BeSingular, an EdTech company providing the next generation with the necessary skills to create a real, responsible impact by learning future technologies is all set to launch ZAPLearn, an interactive way to enrol for 1-day specialized courses on account of Children's day.

With ZAPLearn, BeSingular aims at helping as many children as possible by providing the course free of cost. The courses will range from Artificial Intelligence, Game Design, Python to App Development for a duration as low as 120 minutes a session.

"The kind of skills required for employment today is not commonly taught in our traditional setup classrooms. Hence, we offer children the possibility to learn cutting-edge technology and make them future-ready. With our superfast 1-day specialized courses, we aim at guiding the younger ones well", said Nitesh Jain, Founder, BeSingular.

The ZAPLearn courses are scheduled for children aged between 9 years to 18 years, to help them understand the demands of the future. It is a platform that provides the next generation with the necessary skills to create a real, responsible impact by learning future technologies.

Apart from courses on Technologies of the future, BeSingular has embedded courses on Entrepreneurship, where the students are skilled to become "Techpreneurs".
